NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH

Solicitors are Targeting the Elderly in Franconia District

In the past two weeks we have had two incidents in which elderly citizens have been targeted by solicitors/scam artists.

On 11/22/2010 an elderly woman was having difficulty closing the hood to her vehicle. She was approached by an individual who offered to help fix it. He followed her home and fixed the problem. She then paid him $700 for the minor repair. He is a white male, 20 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and 225 pounds. He was the passenger in a maroon pickup truck. There is no description of the driver. Please remember that if your vehicle is disabled, you can call the non emergency number, (703) 691-2131. We will come out and make sure that your safe. We can then request a tow truck or other services that you may need.

On 11/30/2010 an elderly gentleman was approached by individuals at his home. They offered to seal coat his driveway for free. When they were done they charged him $3600 for the service. He advised them that he was calling the police. After they left he discovered that his wallet was missing. The first subject was 38 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, 250 pounds, and had blond hair. The second individual was a white male, 20 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and 225 pounds. They left in a newer model white pickup truck, Possibly a Chevrolet. There might be damage to the front bumper.

Please be on the alert for these individuals as well as any solicitor. Call the non-emergency number, (703) 691-2131 for any solicitor or suspicious person. You are not wasting our time. You can call anonymously. We will check them out. If there is no problem we will send them on their way.

I get way too many emails and phone calls about things that happened a week ago. The time to call is when they are present in your neighborhood!

R U Paying Attention to Your Driving?

Police Launch New Distracted Driving Campaign

"If you're texting, eating, applying makeup, or getting dressed while you're behind the wheel, you may want to reconsider; Fairfax County Police will be watching. They're kicking off a new distracted driving campaign aimed at keeping motorists and county roadways safer.

A recent study by the Virginia Tech Transportation Institute points out that nearly 80 percent of all crashes and 65 percent of all near-crashes involved driver inattention due to distraction.

Captain Susan Culin, Commander of the FCPD Traffic Division says "Distracted driving is a serious problem," said Captain Culin, "We see it every day; everywhere; it's become an epidemic on our roadways."

The new campaign combines public education and awareness with strict, innovative, enforcement techniques. Officers will be posted at intersections and along roads where there is high volume and high number of crash incidents, such as the Route 28 corridor and the Tyson' Corner area. "Officers may be positioned in 'unorthodox' locations where they'll be able to best view careless behaviors that take a driver's focus off of the roadway," she said.

Online Survey

In addition to the increased enforcement effort, a new survey with a focus on texting while driving is being launched. Officials want to measure and assess public attitudes and behaviors about distracted driving in Fairfax County so they can best determine and target traffic safety education efforts. The online survey is now posted for public participation at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/police.

School resource officers are also encouraging teen drivers to participate. In partnership with Fairfax County Public Schools, police will distribute a new texting-awareness poster throughout schools across the county as well.

The campaign is slated to run through June 2011, with updates on education and enforcement efforts to be shared with the public.

For more information on the new campaign or distracted driving issues, please contact the Traffic Safety Division at <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/police/traffic/> or call 703-280-0500."

Holiday Online Shopping Tips

- Compare prices. Similar items typically fall into a general price range. Scammers try to entice victims to their websites with ridiculously low prices. Remember to account for shipping and handling in the cost of on-line purchases.

- Shop from a trusted source; Research the seller. Anyone can set up shop online. Confirm the online seller's physical address and phone number in case you have any problems or questions. If you were emailed a retail coupon code or special promotion, confirm the terms directly with the retail source.
- Keep your anti-virus software up-to-date. Make sure you have installed the latest firewall and anti-virus software to protect your computer against online attacks.
- Enter financial information only on secure sites. Do not e-mail financial information, like your credit card or checking account number. If you initiate a purchase on-line, look for indicators that the site is secure. Although no indicator is fool-proof, look for a lock icon on the browser's status bar, or a URL address that includes an "s" after the http.
- Don't save your credit card or account information to the seller's site. While this may be seen as a convenience for returning customers, you never know who could access the website or your computer looking for account information.
- Don't send cash or wire money for payment. Do not wire money via Western Union or Money Gram for items purchased on-line; you may be giving your money to scammers and you may never get the item you "ordered." Pay by credit card.
- Keep a paper trail. Print and save records of all your on-line transactions; including the product description, price, on-line receipt and emails.
- Read the fine print; Review the refund policy and delivery rates. Look to see if you can return a product for a full refund if you are not satisfied. Check out who pays for the cost of shipping a returned item and whether or not there are any fees for returning items.

Fill the Wagon

The Franconia Police Station has begun a food drive to "fill the wagon." The "wagon" is the marked police vehicle which you occasionally see patrolling the streets. It is primarily used to transport prisoners to the Fairfax County Adult Detention Center. However, this holiday season, our goal is to "fill the wagon" full of non-perishable food items to be delivered to local food banks and churches.

We are accepting donations from now until Monday, December 20. You can deliver donations to the Franconia District Station lobby at 6121 Franconia Road. We will also be taking the wagon around town to local grocery stores and businesses to collect food donations, so be on the look-out for the police wagon in your community. A list of businesses and pickup times will be provided shortly; please help the Fairfax County Franconia District Station "fill the wagon!"

Fairfax County Environmental Improvement Program, FY 2012

<http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/living/environment/eip/>

The EIP focuses on the areas of:

- Growth and land use
- Air quality and transportation
- Water quality
- Solid waste
- Parks, trails and open space
- Environmental stewardship

A quick search of this 400-page document shows that Lee District is mentioned only a few times, mostly in regards to the Astroturf at Lee District Recreation Center. However, there are some interesting proposals with regard to land use in Fairfax County which deserve attention.

Recycle Your Live Christmas Tree

All Christmas trees less than 8 feet tall can be recycled at the curb in Fairfax County during the first two weeks in January at no additional cost. Please remove tree stands, ornaments, tinsel, lights and tree toppers. For larger trees, contact your trash collector for collection details.

Recycle packaging and gift wrap

Cardboard boxes and packaging, gift wrap (with the exception of foil wrap) and holiday cards can be recycled through your normal curbside paper recycling collection.

Conserve energy

Using LED decorative lights and timing devices can save on energy usage during the holiday season. Never leave lights on overnight.

Can the grease

You can prevent sewer backups and overflows by pouring grease into used cans, adding an absorbent (like kitty litter or a paper towel) and disposing of it in the trash when full.

For more information on these and other environmental topics, go online to www.fairfaxcounty.gov/living/environment.

Workhouse Arts Center

<http://www.workhousearts.org/index.php>

9601 Ox Road, Lorton, VA 22079 (approx. 14 miles)

"The Workhouse Arts Center is a project of the Lorton Arts Foundation. The expansive complex, once a correctional facility and now a center for arts, culture, and history, has a rich past and an exciting new presence.

Visitors to the center can tour the grounds, learn about the history of the complex, visit the artists' studios, participate in art classes and workshops, attend musical and theatre performances, and visit the two-story gallery building to take in the latest exhibitions of local, regional, and international artists.

When all phases of the renovation are complete, the Workhouse Arts Center will consist of 234,000 square feet of adaptively reused buildings and 60,000 square feet in new construction, and the site will include 40 acres of open space. The Lorton Arts Foundation has established in the Workhouse the region's most distinctive cultural arts center."
